<sup>3</sup> Equity securities of companies located in emerging markets involve greater risks than investing in more established markets, including currency fluctuations, political developments and share illiquidity.

<sup>5</sup> Equity securities of small and mid-size companies may be more volatile than securities of larger, more established companies.

<sup>6</sup> Compared to more highly rated securities, high-yield bond investment options are subject to a greater risk, including the risk of default. A bond fund's yield, share price and total return change daily and are based on changes in interest rates, market conditions, economic and political news and quality and maturity of its investments. In general, bond prices fall when interest rates rise and vice versa.

<sup>8</sup> Specialty funds invest in a limited number of companies and are generally non-diversified. As a result, changes in market value of a singular issuer could cause greater volatility than with a more diversified fund.

<sup>9</sup> Real estate securities and trusts involve greater risks than other non-diversified investments, including but not limited to: declining property values, varying economic conditions, changes in zoning laws or losses from casualty. Real estate securities that invest in foreign real estate involve additional risk, including currency fluctuations and political developments.
